

Brian Duval, HFMD community member, is a member of the Public Affairs team at HFA and Blood Brotherhood Manager. His responsibilities include leading the Blood Brotherhood program at HFA, assisting the Public Affairs team in their policy and advocacy efforts, and overseeing young adult programming at HFA. Brian plays a large role in representing the perspective of young adult members of the community and sees himself influencing the future of the organization.

A recent graduate from the University of Nebraska and a 2022 Policy and Government Affairs Intern at HFA, Brian was excited to return to HFA in January of 2023, where he started as an Administrative Assistant. Brian has over 4 years of experience working and volunteering in the bleeding disorders community. He first got involved with advocacy in 2019 and now serves on the Hemophilia Foundation of Minnesota/Dakotas Board of Directors and is a member of the National Bleeding Disorder Foundation's NYLI 2023 cohort in addition to his role at HFA. Brian is based out of Washington, D.C. Brian holds a Bachelor's of Science in Business Administration in Finance and Political Science from University of Nebraska, where he graduated with honors and high distinction.
